We as mayors do not want your electric cars or mandates that require us to purchase certain vehicles. People in the state should have the choice to buy what they want and that being said, they get to choose their savings and their choice of vehicles.. if you want to purchase an electric vehicle you're free to purchase one if you want to purchase an internal combustion vehicle then you should have the right to purchase that as well. Let us choose our energy source and our vehicle source. I see this every day being in the Hvac field the mandates that require customers to spend more money for certain standards that should be up to them to choose what they want to heat their home to cool their home. It shouldn't be left to government.. Power back to the people it's our money. It should very well be our choice.
