I am a mechanical engineer and I really love solar and alternative energy. But it is too soon for Maine to apply rules like this. We don't have the infrastructure or geographical distances that truly make EV's work for Maine. Please let the places in the country that have this prove the technology you before forcing this on a the people of Maine. We will get their and it is the future, but we are 10 years from it being a real future for Maine.
