Forcing EV's on everyone won't improve the weather. I am very strongly against this new rule.

I'm sure you've already heard all the reasons against it, so I won't repeat them. Whatever the reason, the vast majority of people aren't buying EV's-- they are already voting 'no'.

The freedom to travel is very important to Mainers and all the visitors who support our economy. We should continue to improve gasoline and diesel-fueled cars and trucks until something better and affordable is someday invented. EV's are only a tentative, experimental product, far from ready for general use.
