I oppose this bill for the following reasons..

Maine families are struggling enough already. This bill is way too premature even if realistic at all for Maine. This is a rural state where people have to drive long distances for work and supplies. Most Maine families cannot afford an electric car even if it had long distance capabilities at all. The cost of living ; food, fuel, interest rates are already a burden on people of Maine. There is much new evidence of the folly or at least premature practice of electric vehicles for every-day people (and most residents are every-day people) especially in Maine.

Thank you,
