I do not want to be forced to drive EVs , climate change is a natural part of this earths evolution and humans can not stop it. If we were around we wouldn't have been able to stop the Ice Age would we. Just like we can't change the weather, or stop a hurricane, or stop the polar caps from melting, or even control the ocean. We have polluted this planet and now we are polluting outer space. Soon we'll be polluting Mars.

The government does not need to control its citizens, but the waste that we produce. Stop spending Billions on supporting Wars in other countries, giving Billions overseas to allow doctors to kill unborn babies, let's spend these Billions, Billions, to take care of the waste civilization produces world wide.

The electric companies would love to see everything to be electric then they could really make us pay big money for it. Lord help us if we have a major power outage during these times. Our enemies, who will not be all EVs, will be able to shut down our electric grids and we would be helpless.

I would guarantee our leaders will be lining their pockets from payouts from these Electric Giant corporations. So yeah, let's go all electric and we'll all be one big happy family. NOT!!!
