To whom it may concern:

Please do not infringe on my right to choose the kind of vehicle that I wish to drive.

Nobody wants to breathe dirty air or drink dirty water, but I reject the notion that human activity has any significant impact on climate change.

Until there is consensus from scientists and organizations that aren't paid to say, "climate changes is man-made", we would ask you to refrain from infringing on our rights of choice.

Sincerely, Gary Smith
