I am against adopting the California Advanced Clean Cars II regulations. Maine does not have the electrical infrastructure required to support the electrical charging requirements necessary to charge a large portion of the motor vehicles on the road. I also believe that the driving ranges required for operating EV's are not yet at the level required for daily operations of the general public. The distances we need to drive and the cold temperatures we have in Maine in the winter make an EV vehicle impractical. The current situation and options available are not what Maine people need in the near future. Please don't force it on us.
