I cannot afford to buy any type of vehicle currently, and certainly not an EV. When I can afford to buy a newer car, it still won't be in the price-range of an EV. I know very few people who own one or could afford to buy one now or in the future. And if the Maine state govt. attempts to "tax" everyone in order to offer cash incentives, well, that's just taking more money out of our pockets. Let us keep our money and drive what we can afford. Any small difference in emissions this may or may not make is not worth the additional financial burden to Mainers. Do not make this rule change. The climate will change itself, God-willing!
