Concerned citizen. I feel the new EV program is too much for the average citizen in Maine. There are too many people on fixed incomes like myself who can't afford one of these vehicles. I live in the country on a gravel road and plow my own driveway. My only vehicle is a truck which I can't afford to replace now. And don't plan on replacing it anytime soon. With the price of new vehicles there is now way the average person can afford this. If this was to become a law it should go up for vote so that all Maine citizens have a say. In which I would not support it.
