To whomever this may concern:

Maine is not, and hopefully never will be, like California...and California will never be like Maine. To follow in the ridiculous footsteps of that state, in many ways and especially for this rule, lacks common sense and will hurt us more than help. If you adopt this rule, there is sure to be a negative effect on our economy and likely a exodus of large and small businesses from the state, as well as citizens, all Taxpayers. The vast majority of our state is made up of rural areas and an elderly populace. This rule allegedly may be a great idea for the counties that support the biggest population of our state but it's a terrible idea for the rest of us...& will never work. There is no way you'll ever be able to get the infrastructure in place to support this rule by 2028...& those of us who are opposed, do not want to pay for your attempted dictates.
