Good Morning -

With all due respect, I do not believe those involved with this proposal have seriously considered the adverse effects that result from this plan.

In Maine, we already know that school buses are not able to start in our cold temperatures. We have seen the issues in the midwest when it comes to snow and cold, resulting in cars being stranded - at charging stations.

Until these issues can be resolved, Maine should not be moving forward with deadlines for electric vehicles.

Thank you for taking the time to consider my comments.
