Please know, if someone wants an electric car, fine, but there should be absolutely no laws to require it. We have enough laws now.... Last we all knew, it was a free country. My parents, grandparents, and most relatives were dedicated democrats. They would be appalled at what is being forced on people today, and would switch to independent or republican. Yes, we need to have different views on politics, but never should the view not be for the “good of ALL” Americans. Somewhere that got lost.

We are not California, and I Pray to God we never are. Please let Governor Mills understand that. Maine has rural towns, long cold winters, and not everyone wants an electric vehicle, and we should not be punished for that.

Thank you.
