I think it's absolutely ridiculous to mandate evs in maine .. they are useless and costly . It is proven over and over again they are not reliable source of transportation . Also to adopt such a law and force people to buy something they don't want and can't afford is communism at its finest ..
Also the carbon emissions in the United States has dropped in the past 10 yrs while China and India and other countries has risen. So forcing something so useless on the citizens of Maine is a waste of time . I feel you really have no right to do such a thing. Marcy Caton
