It is clear to me that current ideology ignores physical facts. Our climate is affected by El Nino more than any perceived human interaction. El Nino was first noted / documented by South American fishermen in the 1600s. I applaud continuous improvement in all areas concerning humanity but not when the macro view shows some decisions are more hurtful than helpful. I don't believe this act is in our best interest. I believe it will cause more harm than good. It sure seems we are more interested in being followers than being critical thinkers looking for real solutions. Do not pass this act!

Respectfully
Milton
