Electric vehicles are not right for ME, and ME is not right for them.

With the country's antiquated power grids not always able to supply power enough as it is then they aren't ready to power so many electric vehicles. ME gets too cold for the batteries (which can cost $30k to replace !).

Imagine getting stuck in a snowstorm over night in an electric car or truck !?

But the main thing is they aren't really beneficial to the environment as they require more power to be generated by existing plants which are polluting. And don't come back about the solar arrays covering ME farms, because we definitely do and will need to grow food !!
