We do need to mandate electric vehicles. Inner cities? Sure, but in the country where temps can drop to sub zero at times this technology is not ready for. The atmosphere is 4% carbon, if it drops to below 2% plant life dies, what is the end goal of this regulation? If we're talking about 1% drop only because you can't go 2% then what is the government really trying to accomplish?

This is unnecessary legislation.
