Electric vehicles

I was just wondering since I have been without power since Monday
If I did have an electric vehicle how am I supposed to charge it without electricity, Another thing is if the United States went all electric all our enemies have to do is destroy our grid

I do not know where you stand on climate change but I have still not seen any proof, we should be more worried about the sun and the moon, that is what is producing climate change if there is such a thing

Thank you
Vincent Santoni
