I do not believe that we in the state of Maine need anymore government legislation being forced down our throats. It is quite apparent that over mandating our vehicle emissions process is getting out of hand and any proposed benefits will only be passed down to the consumer yet again to pay for it. We in the United States are not the problem. Having served our country for 30 years i seen first hand the pollution that goes on around the world and we can not save the world by ourselves!

Respectfully Submitted
